Report written by Rebecca.

Objectives met:

1. Cut more stringers and sills for another upcoming puncheon replacement by a WTA crew led by Charlie Romine.
2. Make more decking with the Alaskan saw mill.
3. Trim the edges of the finished planks.

This was basically a repeat of the crew that we did on July 24. The difference this time was we overlapped with the youth crew that was on site, working on the puncheon to turnpike conversion (see the other summary report). Lots of people, a very busy place! We had to be extra aware and communicative so no-one got hurt and the work flow wasn't interrupted.

A very cool part of today was that some of the Gray Wolf Crew taught some of the youth how to run the saw mill and they got to make some planks!
